

e-safety Questionnaire Results April 2019

Estimates for the number of children who parents think have a mobile phone in White Tigers/Pandas range from 10% to 90%, most people estimating around 25%.

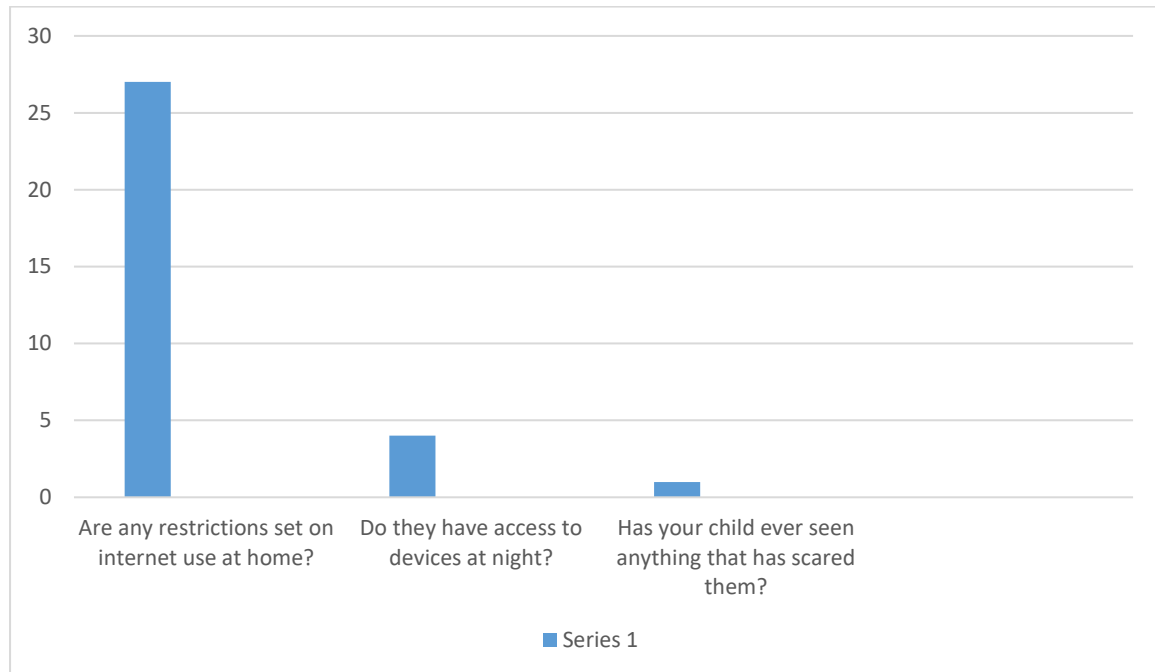

Estimates for the number of children who parents think have an Instagram, Snapchat, Fortnite or similar account range from 3% to 90%, most people estimating around 25-35%.

As a parent myself, I find the information here very reassuring and providing good evidence when in discussion with children who I know tell you, 'everyone else has one/is allowed a Snapchat account' or similar. I hope this gives you confidence to stand by decisions you feel are right by your child.

All responses stated that you are most concerned about overuse of their devices and being exposed to dangers such as strangers or inappropriate material. Everyone was satisfied that school was educating children about these dangers and providing appropriate information to families about e-safety.

Leopards and Polar Bear Parent Responses

(based on 31 responses)

Children are accessing: Times Table Rockstars; Mathletics; Minecraft; Bowmasters; Tonic Stars; Roblox; Mouse Maze; Football; Netflix; Youtube; Lego; Youtube Kids.

Similar concerns to those of the Pandas/White Tigers questionnaires were raised about children being exposed to inappropriate content. Parents wanted school to continue to update families with e-safety information as we do currently.

Just to reassure you, children are never allowed on ipads or computers unsupervised including at After School Club. School computers have a filter on all content and children frequently come up against 'Access Denied' messages, for games that they might go on at home. Also to reassure you, the word 'Momo' was never mentioned in school by any member of staff, nor were pictures shown or specific details discussed. Unbelievably, some parents did show details of this to their children who then discussed it with their peers. This was very strongly discouraged by all staff. Children have been told specifically that they should discuss worries with adults in school, not other children.
